"THE HERO OF CERRO GORDO."

Editor Roundabout:

Who is there in this broad land of ours that could present to Congress the claims of the greatly neglected and overlooked Mexican Soldier better than Jno. S. Williams, a Mexican Soldier. He could tell them of the suffering and fatigue on the march, and how they fought in the various battles, and how they triumphed over odds of five to one. And how that little army was victorious in every engagement from the first battle to the fall and capture of the City of Mexico, and how the Government neglected through that war an amount of territory unequalled and unsurpassed by any war in the history of the world. He can tell Congress of the suffering and privations, together with how starvation and thirst death relieved them of their suffering and claimed them for his own, and after death how he was about to be buried in a pauper's grave to twice his everlasting sleep. He and he alone can tell the American Congress their story and picture their wrongs.

And show to Congress how they have appropriated millions of acres of land to railroad companies that was paid for by the blood of the Mexican Soldiers, and how they vote millions of dollars for steamship subsidies and the fisheries, together with a variety of other appropriations they make annually from an overloading treasury for purposes other than to give a pension to this little band of heroes, with millions of dollars in the treasury and increasing by millions every year. He might be able to present their claim as would induce the American Congress to arouse itself and act in this matter as is becoming the honor and dignity of the American Government, and pass a bill to relieve these old soldiers on their slow march to the grave, weighted down with the infirmities of old age, superadded by the fatigues and privations they underwent while fighting their country's victorious battles in a foreign land. He could tell them all, and he alone can do it in such language that can not be equalled or surpassed by mortal man.

Kentucky could ill afford at this time to lose the service of so valuable a Senator as Jno. S. Williams has been. He has rendered valuable service to the State in two instances that at within themselves should be sufficient grounds for the Legislature to return him to the Senate by an unanimous vote.

He secured the passage of a bill in the Senate appropriating $100,000 for the erection of Post-office and Public Buildings in Frankfort, the capital of the first original State that entered the Union. And Kentucky, in her 90th year of age, receives at the hands of Senator Williams buildings and conveniences that should have been secured long ago. Senator Williams has worked indefatigably for Kentucky's interest to improve and open up the vast field of mineral resources she contains. In securing appropriations for the improvement of the Kentucky river he has not stopped there but has been active and persistent to see that the money appropriated by Congress to open this great natural waterway should be properly used, and not squandered on works. When the hands upon the world received due bills for their time and were compelled to discount them at various rates of interest (as was the case with many of the new), as soon as they were known to Senator Williams the men received their money promptly by order of the Secretary of War.

Thus we find Jno. S. Williams the warm and active friend of the laboring man. The man who is compelled to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. He believes "the laborer should be worthy of his hire," and that honest labor rendered to the Government should not be discounted to procure the necessities of life for their families. It is thus we find Senator Williams in his seat in the Senate ever vigilant and ready to promote the interest and welfare of his people, and to do all in his power that will elevate his State to her true position in the Union of States. The illustrious Senator admitted into the Union, in revenge the fourth in succession the eighth in population, and sixteenth in land products is the position we find Kentucky occupying today.

With her vast internal resources developed and her position in the agricultural world become the greatest State that the American flag flies over in this constellation of States. When that day dawns upon her Kentucky will then be able to find in Kentucky the Eldorado that so many of them have looked for in vain in the West and Northwest, and only too glad to return to old Kentucky with empty purses and disappointed expectations, has been the case with many Kentucky men. Will the Legislature see their way clear and follow the road already blazed out by the soldier and statesman that will lend his State to her true position of renown, greatness and prosperity. Kentucky must have men in the Senate that are perfectly familiar with the wants of Kentucky and be ever ready and quick to respond to and give every assistance to the State that will promote her interest.

Those whole country will remember the bill he introduced in the Senate to protect cattle from ulcers-pneumonia and other contagious diseases cattle are subject to. It will revivify the scene when cattle are protected from disease so often fatal to them, that account the embargo levied by foreign countries on American beef will be removed and the farmer of this country will again have the market of the world opened to him to sell his cattle. The farmers of the whole country are indebted to Senator Williams for the ever vigilant eye he has kept on their interest. Senator Williams is the right man in the right place and Kentucky should keep him where he is. Kentucky should be permitted to retain that little government patronage she may have enjoyed for 40 years, and not allowed to lose it as was the case with the Newport. Baracks a few years ago. It was lost to Kentucky for the time until it was re-established by a petition to the Secretary of War from the business men of Cincinnati.

With Jno. S. Williams in the Senate Kentucky's interest will not only be faithfully but securely guarded.

WM. H. MURRAY.

Between the Bridges.

Christmas is over and the boys must go to work.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Blythe called on Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Storts last Sunday.

Mr. Frank Hackley and family have been on a visit to her mother this week.

Mr. Richard Carter and niece, of Ala., are visiting Mrs. J. H. Thacher of this vicinity.

Misses Lela and Fattie Tinsley and Prof. Carter called on Miss Annie Johnson Sunday evening.

Mrs. T. B. Johnson, of Graefenburg, who has been very ill for several days is slowly recovering.

Prof. Carter went to Anderson county Monday and returned Tuesday night just in time to miss the car.

Miss Sallie Sharp spent the afternoon with Misses Lela and Fattie Tinsley Thursday, and what a pity job wasn't at home.

Dr. Hudson, of Frankfort, passed through our town Wednesday on his way to see a patient near Peyton Shelby county.

Mr. J. J. Smith returned to this neighborhood last Saturday from a visit to his mother, and called on his girl Sunday evening.

Mr. T. B. Johnson has moved the toll-gate from the brickhouse to Tom. Baily's, so Tom will have to quit preaching and keep the gate.

The Misses Wiggs and Tinsley and Messrs. Smith, Blythe Jenkins and Wiggs were the guests of Miss Jennie Darlington Tuesday night.

Ladies, remember this is leap year and make good use of your time, and perhaps after another Christmas rolls round there will be fewer old maids and old bachelors in our community.

Tasken Jones, a young man who was partly raised in our neighborhood, but moved away several years ago and is now in the revenue bureau, passed through our town one evening last week and stayed over night with S. M. and O. Tinsley, Esq. We have known Mr. Jones to train his horse and, say without flattery, that he has richly merited the position he now occupies.

S. M. and O. Tinsley went to Frankfort Wednesday and had the deed made for the land lately purchased by them of the Nursing heirs. And notwithstanding their absence and the severe weather their teams are daily delivering fifty barrels of corn to W. H. McBoys' distillery. Good for the Farmers boys, we need more such persevering and energetic men to have our whole community prosperous.

PERCY & JUDY.

Bridgeport.

The moving business has commenced.

Kawley Armstrong's infant has the diphtheria.

The moving business is in a prosperous condition in this section.

Not a drunken man seen in our midst during the holidays. We still hold the fort.

Dr. George M. Reddish, of Louisville, visited his sister, Mrs. Mattie Hawkins, last Sunday.

No better time to turn over a new leaf than the commencement of a new year. So here goes.

The usual number of dining parties and dances occurred during the holidays. All passed off quietly.

Mr. Dunlap, of the firm of Hall, Dunlap & Co., leather dealers, Louisville, was in the village last Tuesday.

Mr. Ezra Cook and Miss Emma Moreland, of Shelby county, spent several days in this vicinity during the holidays.

Mr. W. T. Wilson and wife, of Louisville, have been visiting friends and relatives in this section during the past week.

Miss Lucy Pattie, of Texas, attending the funeral of her father last Monday, having previously been summoned to his sick bed.

Mr. Ike Lenz and wife, of Illinois, spent last Saturday and Sunday in this vicinity, the guests of Mr. J. W. Jackson and family.

Mr. J. H. Bailey and Col. F. M. Scofield, U. S. Storekeepers, now stationed at Frankfort, took in the village last Sunday, much to the satisfaction of their many friends in this section.

We attended the reunion of the correspondents of the Roundabout last Saturday, and can safely say we have seldom spent a more pleasant time. May all hands live to enjoy many of these reunions.

The dance given in this place last Monday night, under the management of Messrs. Coley Crockett and Phil. Parent, was of the most quiet and orderly character. No rowdiness or drunkenness perceptible. Suffice it to say everything passed off to the satisfaction and full enjoyment of all present.

Mr. William Patton, an old and highly respected citizen of this county, died at his home, Farndale, last Sunday, Dec. 30, 1893, after a short illness with pneumonia. He leaves several children and grandchildren to mourn his loss, besides a large number of other relations and friends. May this affliction be blessed to the good of all concerned.

On Thursday evening Miss Mamie Hawkins, daughter of J. H. Hawkins, just gave an entertainment at her father's to the young folks of the neighborhood, at which him and frolic reigned. On Tuesday next she will return to Louisville, where she is a pupil of the High School.

Antioch.

What a pleasant time we had on the 29th. Mr. W. F. Jenkins is very sick with pneumonia.

A happy new year to the readers of the Roundabout.

Miss Lamer Gore spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Kate Shackelford.

Misses Belle and Kittie Owen were the guests of Mrs. Robt. Owen Tuesday.

Mr. Frank Thompson, of Paris, has been visiting Mr. Fred Smith and family.

Mr. R. J. Shannon and wife spent Christmas with Mrs. S. S. Butler, in Shelby.

Misses Martha and Anne Masters were the guests of Miss Mary Gayhart Tuesday.

Mrs. Sallie Stivers and daughter, Miss Agnes, were the guests of Mrs. James Gore last Saturday.

Master George Lee Gore, of Louisville, spent several days with his uncle, James Gore, this week.

Miss Annie Owen, who has been staying with her aunt, Mrs. Carter Hale, in Belle Point, is at home again.

Miss Frances Fink and sister, from the Big Edly, spent Christmas week with their aunt, Mrs. Butler Gore.

Miss Mary Lee Gore, who is now a student in the Dent and Dumb Institute at Danville, is improving very rapidly, judging from the letters she writes home.

Mr. James Gore and family, Mrs. Noah Goin, Miss Lily Goin, Mr. James Miller, and Mr. T. H. Hunter took their Christmas dinner with Mr. George Shackelford and lady.

Mr. George Shackelford caught a grouse red and grey too, which made its escape on Wednesday, having a leg chain around his neck. He has been recaptured and is for sale at the toll-gate.

The young folks have had a merry time of it this Christmas. On the night of the 26th Mrs. Kate Shackelford gave a social on the night of the 27th a dance at Wm. Polgore's on the 28th a dance at Mat Chisholm's, and a social at Wm. Meters on the 31st. Miss Mary Gayhart gave her young friends a social. All of them were largely attended.

In last Saturday's Courier-Journal I noticed that Col. Allen, of the K. M. L., in his remarks before the Teachers' Association, styles the teachers of the common schools as a worthless set. Why? Simply because, through the negligence and apathy of our officers, the school funds have dwindled away; been misappropriated, etc. They give the gallant Colonel an opportunity of venting his spleen and grossly insulting thousands of ladies and gentlemen throughout the State, many of whom could give credit and honor even to our grand concern as the K. M. L. Col. A. like all or nearly all of our high school men, takes the wrong view of our school system. They seem to forget that it was intended for the poor child, though the State, whose parents were not able to send them to Col. A. a pet concern. He speaks slightly of the dog tax. Now I venture the assertion that if all the taxes due on dogs in the State were assessed and collected, and tendered to Col. A. as an appropriation by the State to the K. M. L. we would not receive it because it was the dog tax. Now if the Colonel, instead of insulting the teachers, will unite with them in demanding that our officers faithfully and honestly perform their duties he will find that there are a good many $200, $500 and $700 teachers in the ranks of the common school teachers of Kentucky, and he will not be under the necessity of importing teachers for the K. M. L.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Gathered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second class available matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.
Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, JANUARY 5, 1884.

Our music loving citizens will have a treat next Tuesday evening, Jan. 8th. The Boston Concert Company will appear at the Opera House.

The new Opera House is all that could be desired in point of beauty and convenience of arrangement, but it is sadly deficient in heat and light. The light in the gallery and balcony is such that one can hardly read a programme, and when the weather is at all cold the temperature in the hall is so low that the audience actually suffers from cold, and on the opening night, as well as Wednesday night of this week, many persons were compelled to leave on account of it. The furnaces have proven entirely inadequate to heat the hall and should be taken out at once and some other mode of heating resorted to, as it is an imposition to require the lease to pay rent for the hall when he cannot induce the amusement loving public to go into it on account of its being so uncomfortable. Steam for heating purposes is convenient and can be obtained at small cost, why not put it in?

The City Council has had placed in the Fire Engine House a heating apparatus by means of which the water in the engine is kept nearly at the boiling point, and in case of an alarm, if the engine should only have to run out to the cistern at the corner of St. Clair and Main street, there will be steam sufficient in the boiler to begin work as soon as the hose are laid. The contrivance consists of a small wrought iron boiler with a furnace underneath, with two pipes leading to the engine. The water is heated in the boiler and kept circulating back and forth through the pipes from the boiler to the engine. The attachment of the pipes to the engine is made in such a manner that when it leaves the house in a manner that the pipes detach themselves, the valves are closed and water in the pipes flows back into a tank which supplies the boiler, all by an automatic arrangement. Very little fuel is required to run the heater, one shovel full of coke being sufficient to keep the fire going six hours.

The whole arrangement is homemade. The boiler, being the first one ever made in this city, was manufactured by Messrs Ferguson & Week, at the Capital Machine Works, and the other work was also executed by them. Bids were received by the Council from Cincinnati and Louisville parties, but our home boys, bid being less than the others they were awarded the contract and have executed the job in first class style.

The drawing of Messrs. Harris & Herrmann's drawing came off at the Court-house in the presence of a large audience. Two wheels were provided, into one of which the prizes and a number of blanks were placed, and in the other half the numbers which had been given away. A committee from the audience, composed of Messrs. H. H. Murray, B. B. Jeffers, Jos. Staten, John Tobin, Major Thos. J. Hutchison and Dr. Alvin Duvall, were placed in charge of the drawing to see that it was conducted fair. A little girl was placed by one wheel and a little boy at the other, and the drawing began. The first prize that came out was the $75 cooking range. Ticket No. 7300 drew it, and it was held by a colored man living in Shelby county, who had made a purchase of a gun coat about an hour before the drawing began, when it was given him. No. 7427, held by Miss Pattie Roberts Thomason, little daughter of Mrs. E. T. Thomason, next drew the $500 piano, and then 4030, held by Mr. Buck Keenan, took the $100 set of walnut furniture.

At the meeting of the City Council Tuesday night, the annual election of city officers took place, when all the incumbents were re-elected, except City Assessor, Mr. Thos. J. Hutchison being elected to that position.

Dr. Sam. James and Mr. C. E. James, Insurance Agent, have removed their offices from the Duvall building to Judge Jett's building, next the Yreman office. The former takes the front room down stairs and the latter the room up stairs lately occupied by Messrs. Scott & French.

The raffle for the presents given away to his customers by Mr. Phil. Selbert will take place at his jewelry store, on St. Clair street, next Wednesday evening, January 11th, and all those who have made purchases from him to the amount of five dollars are entitled to a chance.

The Fire.

Yesterday morning about half past four a fire broke out in the bakery in the rear of Mr. Stephen Fuhs' confectionery and spread rapidly. The Fire Department were on hand promptly and had steam up ready to go to work as soon as the engine left the house but before it could be gotten in position at the cistern a coil of pipe inside the boiler exploded with a loud report and of course the machine was useless. The old engine, the New Era, was quickly brought out and fired up, but the delay occasioned by the accident was long enough to give the flames a good start, and in a short time the buildings occupied by S. Fuhs as a confectionery, Jas. F. Gibbons as a saloon and restaurant, belonging to V. Kallenbren, together with those occupied by Wm. Mandeville as a barber shop and Henry Samuel as a tailor shop, were soon completely destroyed, and the buildings occupied by Jerome Weitzel, jr., as a saloon and L. Weitzel as a confectionery badly damaged, the latter four all the property of Mr. L. Weitzel. The rear of the building occupied by Mr. Phil. Selbert's as a jewelry store and residence, the property of Mr. Dan. Meagher, jr., was also considerably damaged. The flames spread so rapidly that the family of Mr. Jas. Gibbons, who occupied the second story of his establishment as a residence barely escaped with their lives, having no time to secure any portion of their clothing or furniture. Mr. Selbert's family were also compelled to leave in a hurry.

The loss so far as we have been able to ascertain it is as follows:

V. Kallenbren on buildings, $60,500; insurance $10,100.
L. Weitzel on buildings $8,000; insurance, $4,500. On stock, $2,000; insurance $2,000.
Dan. Meagher, jr., on building, $400; insurance $3,500.
S. Fuhs, on stock $2,500; insurance $1,000.
Jas. F. Gibbons, on stock and furniture, $1,500; insurance $500.
Phil. Selbert, on furniture, $300, fully insured.
Wm. Mandeville, on furniture, $300; insurance, $1,000.
Chas. Stoll, on furniture, $500; fully insured.
Henry Samuel, on furniture, $100, fully insured.

Jerome Weitzel, jr., on stock and furniture, $3,000; insurance $200.

A negro man by the name of Edmund Kennedy, who has already served out of two terms in the penitentiary, was arrested during the fire for stealing bottles of whisky from Mr. Gibbons' saloon.

The following resolutions, complimentary to our Board of School Trustees and Col. Thos. B. Ford were adopted by the State Teachers' Association in session in Louisville December 26th, 27th, and 28th:

WHEREAS, E. Whitesides, W. S. Dehoney and D. L. Haly, Trustees of the Public School of Frankfort have brought suit in the courts to recover to the School Fund the amount of money which they believe to be due it from the tax on railroads and corporations; and whereas, Thomas B. Ford, of the same place, has volunteered to prosecute the same without charge; therefore

Be it resolved, 1. That the Kentucky State Teachers' Association cordially approve and endorse the action of the said trustees in making this test case for the benefit of the children of the State.
2. We earnestly hope the courts having jurisdiction of this case will decide the points at issue without delay.
3. That the thanks of the teachers and friends of education throughout the State are due and are hereby tendered to the said trustees and Thos. B. Ford of Frankfort.

During the session of the Association Col. Thos. B. Ford, of this city, delivered an address upon the subject of common school finances which was loudly applauded and pronounced one of the finest speeches of the session.

The world combination drew a good audience to the Opera House Monday evening. The scenic effect of the piece was very good.

The military companies of this city are requested to participate in the corner stone ceremonies on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

There will be an oyster supper given at the Court-house on Friday evening, January 11th, for the benefit of Capital Lodge, No. 260, of this city.

Mrs. John W. Hupe has received from the Knights of Honor $2,000 insurance upon the life of her late husband, who was a member of that organization.

There will be a meeting of the Royal Templars at the photographic gallery of H. G. Mattson on Monday evening, at 7 o'clock. Business of importance will be transacted.

The case of The Planters' National Bank of Louisville vs. Pepper, &c., has been compromised. This is the case in which the bank was endeavoring to make Col. R. P. Pepper, Messrs. S. Black, Geo. W. Gwin and A. C. Keenan, securities of Jas. W. Batchelor, Cashier of the Bank, responsible for the defalcation of Louis Rehm, the Teller. By the terms of the compromise the securities pay to the bank $6,500.

The charming little actress, Julia A. Hunt, appeared at the Opera House Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The audiences were not large, owing in a great measure to the low temperature of the hall, but those who were present enjoyed the performances very much indeed.

Personal.

Miss Fannie Bowden, of Russellville, is visiting Miss Florence Barrett, South Side.

Miss Anna Richardson, who has been very ill, has improved sufficiently to be able to sit up.

Mr. Will. Richardson left Tuesday for Nashville, Tennessee, to attend Commercial College.

Mrs. Wm. M. Saffell left Thursday for Washington City to visit Mrs. John G. Carlisle.

Miss Mamie Rinker, of Louisville, is visiting the family of her uncle, A. B. Norwood.

Miss Florence Barrett returned Monday form a two weeks' visit to friends in Russellville.

Mr. W. L. McEwan will return to college at Princeton, New Jersey, on Monday.

Mr. Austin J. Kendall is lying very ill at his home on Broadway with no hopes of recovery.

Mrs. Craft, of Lagrange, spent several days in this city the first of the week, visiting friends.

Mr. N. M. Coney is at home from New Orleans, and will remain several days, visiting his family.

Mr. Pat. McDonald, jr., who has been spending the holidays with his parents in this city, returned to school at St. Mary's College the first of the week.

NOTICE.

HAVING BOUGHT OF MR. P. NEWMAN HIS entire stock of millinery goods, I will still continue the same business at the stand formerly occupied by Mrs. C. E. Ward. Thanking the public for past favors, I earnestly desire to inform the same.

MRS. MARGIE J. HALLMAN.

Frankfort, January 1, 1884.

Having sold my entire stock of millinery goods to Mrs. Margaret J. Hallman, I hereby notify all parties who are indebted to me to please call and settle promptly, as I am compelled to leave money. All persons who have claims against me will please present them for payment. In settling from this business, I take this method of informing the public of the general partnership which they have given me, and hence they will continue the same under the new management.

P. H. NEWMAN.

SAMUEL AYERS.

FORMERLY OF DANVILLE, KENTUCKY.

WATCH MAKER.

Successor to B. F. Meek, Main Street, Frankfort, Ky., continues the watch repairing business at the old stand. By promptness and careful work he hopes to merit the patronage of those who desire to have their watches repaired without damage being done them. Surveyors' compasses repaired and other instruments requiring delicate and accurate adjustment.

In retiring from business in Frankfort I take pleasure in expressing my entire confidence in Mr. S. Ayers, and from my long acquaintance with him as a workman, do not hesitate to commend him as every way capable of meeting the expectations of my former patrons.
